It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

History of the First Congregational Church, Concord, New Hampshire.

THE LORD OUR GOD BE WITH US AS HE WAS WITH OUR FATHERS (I KINGS 8:57).

The First Congregational Church in Concord known also as "The First Church of Christ," was organized November 18, 1730.

At the session of the "General Court of the Province of Massachusetts Bay," assembled at Boston in May, 1721, a petition was presented for a tract of land "situated on the river Merrymake at the lower end of Penny-Cook," to contain about eight miles square. This petition was not allowed until the beginning of the year 1725, when the government of Massachusetts appropriated land for the "Plantation of Penny-Cook," now Concord.

At a meeting of the "intended settlers," held in Andover, Mass., February 8, 1726, it was voted "That a block house twenty-five feet in breadth, by forty feet in length, be built at Penny-Cook for the security of the settlers." This log house was located at what is now the northwest corner of Main and Chapel Streets, and served for some quarter of a century as a meeting-house, schoolhouse, garrison and town hall. This site is now marked by a granite tablet appropriately inscribed. It was completed early in the year 1727, and was probably the first permanent building erected in town. In the fall of this year, the first family, that of Captain Ebenezer Eastman, moved into the place from Haverhill, Mass.

On March 6, 1727, a committee was "empowered to agree with a minister to preach at Penny-Cook the year ensuing, to begin the service from the fifteenth of May next. The said committee are directed to act with all prudence and not to assure the gentleman more than after the rate of £100 per annum for his service."

Rev. Enoch Coffin, one of the original proprietors in the town, was engaged as the first preacher, and his formal labors were to begin precisely one year after the date of the first religious service held in central New Hampshire, and at which he officiated. For the original journal of the first surveyors of the Plantation of Penny-Cook says, "May 15, 1726. Sunday. Mr. Enoch Coffin, our chaplain, performed divine service both parts of the day. Fair and cool." He attended to his duties for some two years, for again consulting the records we read, that at a meeting of the proprietors held at Bradford, Mass., March 12, 1729, it was voted: "That the sum of four pounds be allowed and paid unto the heirs of the Reverend Enoch Coffin, deceased, for his preaching and performing divine service at Penny-Cook, in full discharge." He was Concord's first preacher, but not her first settled minister.

Rev. Mr. Coffin was born in Newbury, Mass., February 7, 1696. His father was Hon. Nathaniel Coffin of that town, deacon of the first church and clerk of the township, also representative to the General Court for three years, 1719-21, councillor of the province in 1730, and special justice of the court of common pleas for Essex County in 1734. He had eight children. Enoch was a graduate of Harvard College in 1714, and died August 7, 1728, at the early age of thirty-two years. We cherish his memory as one of the religious pioneers of his time, and Concord owes him honor and reverence for his faith and works within her borders.*

Rev. Bezaleel Toppan was also "employed to preach and perform divine service," until October, 1730, when it was resolved to establish a permanent ministry. On October 14, 1730, Rev. Timothy Walker was "called to be minister of the town of Penny-Cook."

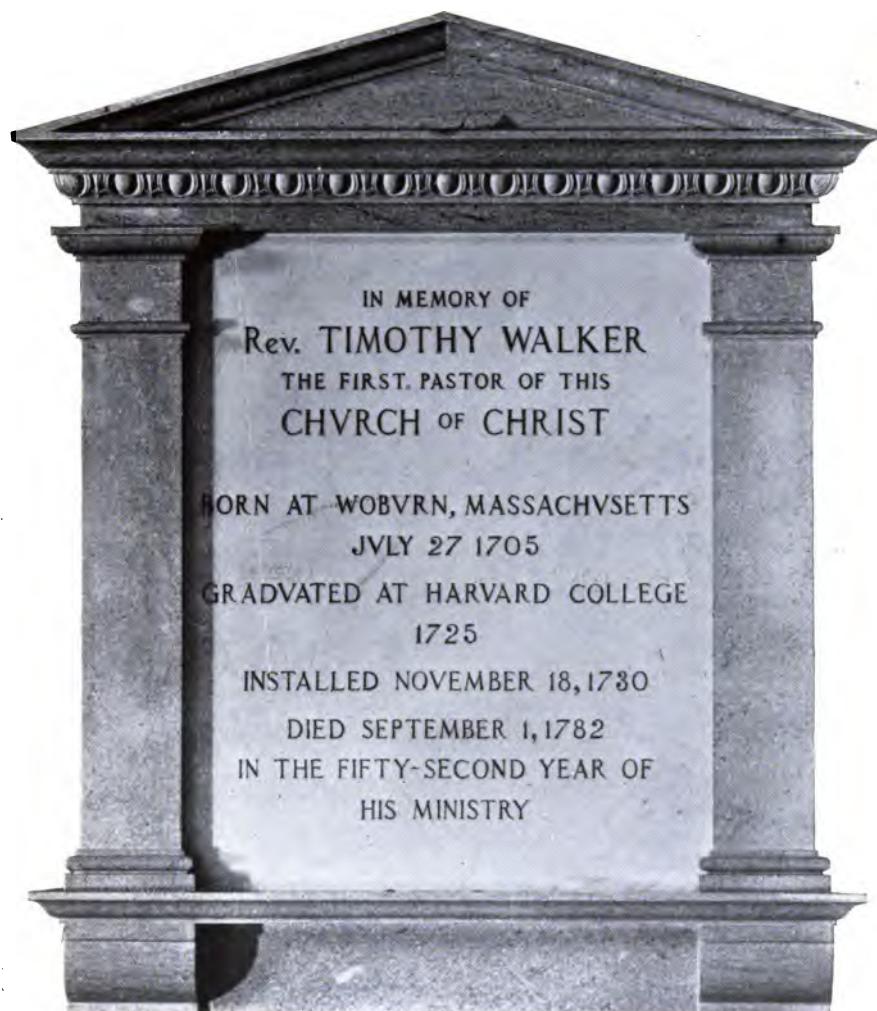

A council met November 18, 1730, and organized here a church of nine members, and the Rev. Timothy Walker was ordained and installed its pastor. The sermon was by Rev. John Barnard, of Andover, Mass.; text, Prov. 9:1-3; the charge to the pastor, by Rev. Samuel Phillips, also of Andover; and the right hand of fellowship, by Rev. John Brown, of Haverhill, Mass. Thus and then, this "Church of Christ," often so called in the early days, was established. This title has a new significance to-day, when we are seeking to make denominational lines less apparent and Christ's Church stronger. The church was orthodox and stable in its faith, and during the long ministry of Mr. Walker—fifty-two years—it was united and prosperous, and this condition has characterized its life during its history of the past one hundred and seventy-seven years. Strong in the confidence and affection of the people, Mr. Walker always and actively opposed anything which threatened division in the church or the town.

It is impossible to measure accurately the growth of the church during this period, owing to incompleteness of the records. No regular record is found after 1736, and the names of those who "owned the covenant" are gathered only in part, and these from entries made in his diary. While the names of only ninety-five who united with the church are known, many more than this must have become members, for at the installation of his successor, though but few of those whose names were recorded were alive, there were one hundred and twenty members. The growth of the church must, therefore, have been rapid for those days, and its prosperity, stability and influence in the town and throughout the state are proof of a faithful ministry.

Rev. Timothy Walker, A. M., was a native of Woburn, Mass., and a graduate of Harvard College, in the class of 1725. His salary, at settlement, was £100, to increase forty shillings per annum till it reached £120; also use of parsonage. He died suddenly on Sabbath morning, September 1, 1782, aged 77 years, deeply mourned by the people he had so faithfully served and led, and between whom and himself the mutual attachment had remained strong to the last.

The deep impress of this early ministry has never been effaced, and the influence of Mr. Walker, to a large degree, decided the moral tone and habits of the town. For more than half a century he directed the thought, and was the religious teacher of the early settlers; and his clear convictions, his bold utterances, and his firm adherence to practical principles, made him a wise leader. He served the town as well as the church. His wise counsel and prompt and judicious action in relation to every matter of public interest were of great benefit to the people, and gave him a wide and acknowledged influence. Three times he visited England, as agent for the town, to confirm its endangered rights, and was enabled by his personal influence and wisdom to make secure forever the claims and privileges of the settlers. His influence will be acknowledged, and his name remembered with gratitude by future generations.*

Membership.

The following nine persons constituted the Church at its organization November 18, 1730:

Rev. TIMOTHY WALKER,	Pastor, Woburn, Mass.
SAMUEL BURBANK,
JEREMIAH STICKNEY,	Bradford, Mass.
WILLIAM BARKER,	Andover, Mass.
MRS. MARTHA BARKER,	Andover, Mass.
DAVID BARKER,	Andover, Mass.
AARON STEVENS,	Andover, Mass.
JOHN RUSS,	Andover, Mass.
JOHN MERRILL, Deacon,	Newbury, Mass.

The list of members is incomplete from 1736 to 1798. During the ministry of Rev. Timothy Walker, ninety-five persons, however, are known to have united with the church, whose names are enrolled.*

Nearly seven years now passed without a stated ministry. December, 1786, Deacon Jonathan Wilkins received a call to settle, which he declined on account of the inadequacy of the salary. Mr. Wilkins was a member of the church at this time and continued his connection with it for a long number of years. At the organization of the New Hampshire Bible Society, at the "Old North" in 1812, he was chosen as its treasurer.

Rev. Israel Evans.

On September 1, 1788, the Rev. Israel Evans was called by both the church and town, to settle as their minister. He accepted, and was installed as pastor July 1, 1789. The introductory prayer was by Rev. Jeremy Belnap; installation sermon, by Rev. Joseph Eckley, a classmate of Mr. Evans, and pastor of the Old South Church in Boston from 1779 until 1811, the date of his death; the ordination prayer, by Rev. Mr. Woodman; charge to the pastor, by the Rev. Dr. McClintock. Rev. Mr. Eckley thus spoke of Mr. Evans to the people: "In consequence of the long acquaintance I have had with your pastor-elect, I have the pleasure to congratulate you that we have this day settled a gentleman with you, who, added to the natural gifts and improvements of his mind, has afforded every reasonable evidence of his being a sincere friend of our common Lord."

His ministry continued for eight years and during this time he served as chaplain of the Great and General Court for some five years, also at the session of the Constitutional Convention for two years, 1791-2.

Mr. Evans was a trustee of Dartmouth College from 1793 until 1807, the date of his death. By his will he left a fund for the establishment in this college of the "Evans Professorship of Oratory and Belles Lettres," which has been combined with others and is still known as the "Evans' foundation." Said Dr. Samuel C. Bartlett, ex-president of Dartmouth, in an address, March 20, 1895, "This bequest was the chief accession of productive funds during Dr. John Wheelock's administration of thirty-eight years." It amounts at present to $12,666.66.

The town in its corporate capacity had provided for the maintenance of the minister, but had failed to vote a very liberal sum, and Mr. Evans found difficulty in obtaining even the small amount due him from year to year, so on April 21, 1797, he expressed his "intention of resigning to the town their pulpit and of finishing his work of the ministry in this place on the first of July next." Holding to this decision, his resignation was accepted, and he was regularly dismissed by an ecclesiastical council on July 5, 1797. He continued to reside in town until his death, March 9, 1807.

Any records of the church during this period have failed to appear, except that of one hundred and twenty-three baptisms, and one hundred and twenty-four admissions.

Rev. Israel Evans was of Welsh descent, born in Treddyffrin, Great Valley, Chester County, Pennsylvania, in the year 1747. His father was Rev. Samuel Evans, a graduate of Yale College, class of 1739, with degree of A. M. Licensed to preach by the presbytery of Philadelphia, January 8, 1741; on October 7th he accepted a call from the Great Valley Church and on May 5th of the following year he was ordained and installed its pastor. Samuel's father, Rev. David Evans, Jr., who had been settled over the same church from 1720 to 1740, preached the installation sermon. In 1749, Samuel resigned his pastoral charge and made two or more voyages to England. He died about the year 1766. David, Jr., grandfather of Israel, was the son of Rev. David Evans, who emigrated from Wales to Pennsylvania in 1701. He was one of a class of two only, who graduated from Yale College in 1713. He received a unanimous call to the church of the Welsh tract, so called, September 8, 1714, and was ordained November third following. He deceased in 1751. Thus we see that the father and grandfather of Israel Evans were ministers of the gospel in this country, and that his great-grandfather was a minister in Wales. Following these noble men, we understand why Israel must have inherited a love for the ministerial profession, and, in preparation for what he considered his life work, he sought and gained his education at "Nassau Hall," now Princeton University, graduating therefrom in the class of 1772, at the age of twenty-five years, receiving the degree of A. M. in 1775. It is noteworthy that of his class of twenty-two, fourteen entered the ministry. Israel Evans was licensed to preach by the first presbytery of Philadelphia in 1775, and ordained as chaplain in the American army in 1776. Chaplain Evans enjoyed the great distinction of being the only one holding that office who remained continuously throughout the long seven years' struggle for independence, until peace was declared in 1783. "Probably no chaplain in the Revolution," says Headley, the historian, "followed its fortunes so steadily from its commencement to its close, sharing all its perils and hardships, or who stood as prominently in history as a representative chaplain, and who, with a clear head, a strong mind and a patriotic zeal, assisted in sustaining the cause of the colonies, as the Rev. Israel Evans." He was known as "Washington's chaplain." Among his many addresses which have come down to us, was one which he delivered before the assembled French and American armies at the surrender of the British forces under General Cornwallis at Yorktown. This was given on invitation of General Washington, who ordered "Divine service to be held at the head of the regiments on account of this particular interposition of Providence in their behalf." Chaplain Evans chose for his text I Samuel 7:12, "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." This discourse is full of patriotic zeal and inspiration. He gives great praise to God for His mercy, and abundant tribute to the brave men who endured so much and conquered so gloriously. Thus, for seven long and laborious years, did our patriotic chaplain serve in the Continental army, marching with her soldiers from the heights of Quebec to the complete and final overthrow of the British power in this country on the plains of Yorktown.*

MARBLE TABLET, MEMORIAL OF DR. McFARLAND AND WIFE.
(On wall of this Church.)

Rev. Asa McFarland, D. D.

The church chose as successor to Rev. Mr. Evans the Rev. Asa McFarland, and, the town concurring in the choice, he was installed March 7, 1798. The sermon was preached by Rev. John Smith, of Dartmouth College. The growth of the church under the ministry of Dr. McFarland was gratifying. Seasons of quiet and also of deep religious interest blessed it, and 429 were added to the church membership, and 734 adults and infants received the sacred rite of baptism. His ministry continued twenty-seven years and closed March 23, 1825. Dr. McFarland was the last minister provided for by the town, his successors being supported by the society.

Rev. Asa McFarland, D. D., was born in Worcester, Mass., April 19, 1769. He graduated at Dartmouth College in 1793, and was for two years tutor in the college. In later years, 1809-22, he was a trustee. During the whole of his pastorate, he was clerk of the ecclesiastical convention of the state. He was chaplain of the state prison for three years and a half, preaching there once each Sunday. He was also president of the New Hampshire Missionary Society in its early years. The degree of Doctor of Divinity came to him from Yale College.

Dr. McFarland possessed a vigorous and active mind, was discriminating and sound in judgment, wise and diligent in action. His personal character and position secured to him a wide and lasting influence in the town and throughout the state. Eighteen discourses, delivered on public occasions, were published. In consequence of failing health, he resigned his office as pastor in March, 1825. He died in Concord, Sabbath morning, February 18, 1827, in the fifty-eighth year of his age.*

*See sketch of his life by Major Henry McFarland (his grandson), published November 18, 1905.

Rev. Nathaniel Bouton, D. D.

The council which dismissed Dr. McFarland, March 23, 1825, installed as pastor his successor, Rev. Nathaniel Bouton. The sermon was by Rev. Justin Edwards, D. D., of Andover, Mass.; installing prayer, by Rev. Walter Harris, of Dunbarton; charge to the pastor, by Rev. Asa McFarland, D. D.; fellowship of the churches, by Rev. Abraham Burnham, of Pembroke; charge to the people, by Rev. Daniel Dana, D. D., of Londonderry. The spirit of the Most High early rested on his ministry, and many seasons of revival blessed it. Bible classes and Sabbath schools were organized in different parts of the town, and the faithful labors of the pastor in these, and in the large assembly of the people gathered in a single place of worship, were attended with great success. In connection with the meeting of the General Association of New Hampshire, held with this church in 1831, a deep work of grace began, and more than a hundred were added to the church as the result. Large accessions were received in the years 1834, 1836, 1842 and 1843. During the forty-two years of this ministry, 772 members were added to the church, and 629 adults and infants were baptized. Three colonies were dismissed and organized into other churches, and the real increase of the church in strength and influence was very great. Churches of other denominations were also organized in town, yet this continued harmonious in action and steadfast in faith. This ministry was characterized by unity, stability and growth. Dr. Bouton resigned his pastorate, of marked and continued success, at the forty-second anniversary of his settlement, March 23, 1867, and was dismissed by council, September 12, 1867.

MARBLE AND BRASS TABLET,
MEMORIAL OF REV. NATHANIEL BOUTON, D. D.
(On the wall of this Church.)

Rev. Nathaniel Bouton, D. D., was a native of Norwalk, Conn., and graduated at Yale College in 1821, and at Andover Theological Seminary in 1824. He was not only a faithful minister of Christ, but a citizen of valued and acknowledged influence, during a period of the great growth and prosperity of Concord; and bore for a generation an active part in questions of reform and public weal, both at home and abroad. A friend of learning and its institutions, he was elected a trustee of Dartmouth College in 1840. In the ecclesiastical bodies of this state, and in the benevolent organizations of the land, he was active and respected; was a corporate member of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, and a trustee of other charitable societies. In 1856 he published the History of Concord, and also, during his ministry, many sermons, historical and biographical. August 31, 1866, Dr. Bouton was appointed state historian, in which office he compiled ten volumes of provincial and state papers, which were published by the state. After nearly eleven years of labor in this office, he resigned. He enjoyed rest for a short season, and, at the request of his children, wrote an autobiography. His life work was done. Soon his strength began to fail, and, after an almost painless illness, he calmly died, full of years, honored and beloved by all who knew him, June 6, 1878, at the age of seventy-nine years.*

Four pastorates covered one hundred and thirty-seven years, and the four pastors died here, and their forms were laid away by loving hands, among the treasured dust of the absent flock.

Rev. Franklin Deming Ayer, D. D., born in St. Johnsbury, Vt., December 19, 1832, a graduate of Dartmouth College in 1856 and of Andover Theological Seminary in 1859, was installed by the council which dismissed Dr. Bouton, September 12, 1867. The sermon was by Rev. Eden B. Foster, D. D., of Lowell, Mass.; installing prayer, by Rev. J. M. R. Eaton, of Henniker; charge to the pastor, by Rev. P. B. Day, D. D., of Hollis; fellowship of the churches, by Rev. W. R. Jewett, of Penacook; address to the people, by Rev. W. T. Savage, D. D., of Franklin.

For three decades, Dr. Ayer maintained the honored traditions of this historic pulpit. He was beloved by his people, esteemed by his fellow citizens and honored throughout the state. From 1871 until 1880, he was secretary of the General Association of New Hampshire. In 1881, he was elected a corporate member of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. He was trustee of the New Hampshire Home Missionary Society, New Hampshire Bible Society, and Ministers' and Widows' Charitable Fund, also vice-president of the American Congregational Union. As an officer of religious societies, and as a trustee of benevolent institutions, he devoted himself untiringly to the service of men. In civic life, he was trustee of the Concord City Library, and of the New Hampshire Asylum for the Insane. He was twice abroad, first as delegate from the state to the International Prison Congress, which convened in London, July 4, 1872; second, as a delegate from the National Council of Congregational Churches of the United States, of which society he was a trustee, to the International Council, holding its sessions in London, July, 1891, traveling somewhat extensively in Europe on both occasions. The honorary degree of D. D. was conferred upon him by Dartmouth College in 1887.

With the devotion which characterized his entire ministry, Dr. Ayer tendered his resignation, to take effect on the thirtieth anniversary of his installation. He said: "In taking this step, I obey the imperative call for rest and relief which a body, never strong, lays upon me. I also realize that there is urgent and aggressive work open to you as a church, which ought to be done, and which I am unable fully to attempt, but in which a younger and stronger pastor might lead you."

The retiring pastor was made Pastor Emeritus. His home is now in Philadelphia, but he is still living in Concord, living in the hearts of a grateful people to whom in the joys and sorrows of thirty years he was a good minister of Jesus Christ.

This church observed the One Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of its organization, at the church edifice, Thursday, November 18, 1880.

The church building was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants. On a banner, hung above and back of the pulpit, were the words:

ONE
PRAISE THY WORKS
TO ANOTHER
AND SHALL DECLARE
THY MIGHTY
ACTS.

On either side were smaller banners, bearing the dates:

1730 ————— 1880

Tablets were raised in the transepts, the one giving the list of the pastors, and the date of installation and dismission; the other bearing the words:

In the afternoon, an original hymn written by George Kent, Esq., was sung. Mr. Kent was a member of the society fifty years previous, and also wrote the hymn for the One Hundredth Anniversary. In the evening, letters were read by the pastor, from Col. William Kent of Concord, and Dr. Andrew McFarland of Jacksonville, Illinois.

Addresses were given by Dr. E. G. Cummings of the Baptist Church, Concord; Rev. C. E. Harrington of the South Congregational Church, Rev. Dr. William Clark of Amherst, and by Hon. Harvey Jewell of Boston.

The interesting exercises closed at a late hour with a benediction by Rev. Dr. Wallace of Manchester.

Rev. George Harlow Reed.

Rev. George Harlow Reed was born in Worcester, Mass., March 24, 1858, in whose schools he began his studies, which were continued in Phillips Exeter Academy, Boston University and Bangor Theological Seminary. After a pastorate of four years in the Winslow Congregational Church, Taunton, Mass., and nearly seven years in the North Church, Haverhill, Mass., Mr. Reed was installed as our pastor, June 30, 1898. The sermon was preached by Rev. J. W. Churchill, D. D., of Andover Seminary. The prayer of installation was offered by Rev. Franklin D. Ayer, D. D., Pastor Emeritus; the charge to the pastor, by Rev. Arthur Little, D. D., of Boston; the right hand of fellowship, by Rev. H. P. Dewey, D. D., of Concord; the charge to the people, by Rev. Burton W. Lockhart, D. D., of Manchester.

For nine years, Mr. Reed has labored in the spirit of his predecessors, and the church is united and prosperous.

On the sixteenth day of June, 1906, the devoted wife of our present minister was suddenly called to the higher service and holier fellowship of Heaven. Mrs. Reed was the daughter of Dr. Asahel Sumner Deane and Mrs. Virginia Deane, of Taunton, Mass.

She was an ideal minister's wife. Her speech was as choice silver. She could adapt herself to all, because she had consecrated herself to Christ; the most diffident felt at ease in her presence; our leaders sought her counsel; the little children loved her. She was full of animation, resourceful and winsome. The gracious influence of her beautiful life will continue to be an inspiration to this church for many years to come.

The arrangements of these three days of successful services and exercises were in charge of a committee consisting of Rev. George H. Reed, Hon. Joseph B. Walker, and Deacon John C. Thorne. The weather was most favorable, and the attendance large, showing a gratifying interest by the public in the prosperity and long life of this historic church.

Looking backward over one hundred and seventy-five years, this church may well say, "Hitherto the Lord hath helped us." Looking forward, it is united in the prayer that, standing fast in the faith and holding forth the word of truth, it may be of good comfort and of one mind, turning many unto righteousness.

Our Second Meeting-House.*1751-1842.

As the township increased in population there was an imperative demand for a larger house of worship. In 1751 a new one was erected on the site of the Walker school-house, Fiske and Walker streets, and was long known as the "Old North." "It was of great simplicity, entirely unornamented, sixty feet long, forty-six feet wide and two stories high, and was without gallery, porch, steeple, or chimney." It faced the south, on which side was a door opening upon an aisle extending through the middle of the house straight to the pulpit. The seats were rude benches placed upon each side of it; those upon the west side being assigned to the women, and those upon the east to the men. The deacons sat upon a seat in front of the pulpit and faced the congregation. A marked attention had been shown the minister by building for him a pew—the only one in the house.

In 1784, at the close of the War of the Revolution, the edifice was completed by the addition of porches and steeple upon the exterior, and pews and galleries upon the interior. The pews were square and inclosed by panelled sides, surmounted by turned balusters supporting a moulded rail. The seats were without cushions and furnished with hinges, that they might be turned up when the congregation stood, as it did, during the long prayer. At the close of this they all went down with one emphatic bang, in response to the minister's "Amen."

"The pulpit was a huge, square structure and had a semi-circular projection in front; was constructed of panelling and loomed up like Mount Sinai, in awful majesty, high above the congregation. Above it and projecting forward was a ponderous sounding board, curious in design and of elaborate workmanship."

For the convenience of persons riding to meeting upon horse-back, which in those days was so much the custom, the man upon the saddle and the woman upon a pillion behind, a mounting-block was constructed. This consisted of a circular, flat stone, eight feet in diameter and raised some three feet from the ground, a few steps led to the top of it. From this horse-block,* so termed, our ancestors could easily dismount on arrival and mount again at the close of the service.

Such was our second meeting-house, one of the best in New Hampshire. It was so designed from the praiseworthy desire of the town to have a suitable place for worship, and also to accommodate the legislature, which was disposed to make Concord the capital of the state.

In 1778 a convention was held here "to form a permanent plan of government for the state of New Hampshire."

The first time the legislature met in Concord, March 13, 1782, it assembled in this house. From that time until 1790, when our first town-house was built, fifteen sessions of the General Court were held here. In 1784, with religious services, the new State Constitution was here first introduced and adopted. On the twenty-first of June, 1788, the Federal Constitution was ratified here, by which New Hampshire became the ninth state of our Union, the number required to make it operative and binding upon the United States and thus started it upon its glorious career among the nations.

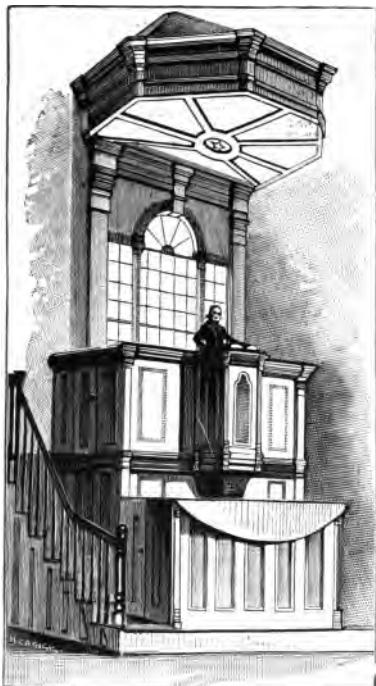

In this house also met the Convention of 1791-2 to revise the State Constitution. From 1784 to 1831, thirty-nine times did the legislature march in formal procession to this house, to hear the annual election sermon which preceded its organization. For twenty-five years, from 1765 to 1790, all of the town meetings were held here. One of the important events was the attendance of James Monroe, president of the United States, on Sunday, July 20, 1817. Protracted religious meetings were also held here which resulted in the great revival of 1831. In 1834-5 occurred the memorable trial of Abraham Prescott, for murder. A eulogy on General Lafayette was delivered in this church before the General Court by Hon. Nathaniel G. Upham, in 1835.

Here were held conventions for the promotion of temperance. Here important addresses were delivered to large assemblies on the Fourth of July and other important occasions. Here took place that great political debate between Franklin Pierce and John P. Hale, upon the withdrawal of the latter from the Democratic party in 1845. Not another edifice in New Hampshire has had associated with it more of marked and precious history or held within its confines so many notable gatherings of the olden time, or heard so great eloquence as resounded from these walls for nearly a hundred years.

(The mother church, largely reduced in its membership by the formation of other churches, decided at a meeting held March 17, 1841, to build a new and smaller house of worship, and on May 16, 1842, it was decided to locate the same on the corner of Main and Washington streets. This was completed, dedicated and occupied on November 23, 1842.) The "Old North," that ancient and renowned structure, a few years after its abandonment was conveyed by the First Congregational Society to the use of the Methodist General Biblical Institute, and continued the seat of the First Theological School of the Methodist Episcopal Church for twenty years, 1847-67, until its removal to Boston, where it became

Our Third Meeting-House.*1842-1873.

The plan of our new house was in general conformity to the style of such structures then prevailing. It was of one story with a bell tower and steeple forming part of the façade. It was located at the corner of Main and Washington streets, faced the east and was eighty feet in length and fifty in width, with a slightly projecting porch in front, whose roof rested upon four plain, round columns some twenty-five feet in height. The corner-stone was laid and frame raised July 4, 1842, and was dedicated on the twenty-third of November of the same year. It was built of wood and painted white. The number of pews was eighty-eight, affording four hundred and fifty sittings. In 1848 the house was enlarged by an addition, giving twenty more pews. The year 1858 saw the erection of a chapel upon the land of the society. In 1868 it was found necessary to enlarge the same by the addition of a kitchen. In 1855 fifteen hundred dollars was subscribed by members of the society to provide a tower clock and to enclose the church lot by a stone and iron fence.

The introduction of a new organ came in 1869. The gallery was lowered and remodelled, the audience room ventilated, pews repainted and the walls and ceiling frescoed anew. Thus it continued without change until Sunday morning, June 29, 1873, when, like its predecessor, it was seized by devouring flames and entirely destroyed. The chapel, situated in the rear of the church, escaped destruction but was seriously injured. After repairs it was used until May, 1883, when it was voted to build a new chapel on the site and this was sold and removed.

Our Fourth and Present House of Worship. 1874.

(See frontispiece.)

“ The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the Lord of Hosts.” Haggai.

The morning after the burning of our third meeting-house, services were held in the city hall, and the society worshipped there until a new home was ready for occupancy in March, 1876.

On the evening of the day following the fire, Monday, June 30, 1873, an informal meeting of the society, fully attended, was held at the city hall. The following resolution, presented by Dr. Bouton, was unanimously passed:

“ Resolved, That we deeply deplore the destruction by fire on the morning of Sunday, the twenty-ninth instant, of the beautiful house in which we and our fathers have worshipped during the period of an entire generation.”

“ Resolved, That while we humbly acknowledge the providence of God in this great loss, we gratefully acknowledge the many blessings conferred on us as a church and religious society; and, trusting still in Him, resolve with united hearts to arise and build another edifice for His worship and to the honor of His name.”

A committee was chosen to suggest arrangements for raising the needed money, and another committee to procure plans and estimates of the cost of a new house of worship. At a legal meeting of the society held July 21, it was voted to build on the old site. Plans were soon adopted, a part of the money raised and contracts made, so that the corner-stone was laid with appropriate services July 25, 1874. This present house was built of brick with granite trimmings; it is of modified Gothic architecture, cruciform, with the principal façade upon Main street, having a bell-tower and spire upon its southeast corner. It is one hundred and six feet in length; in width across the transept seventy-one feet, and across the nave fifty-seven feet; the height of the ridge, fifty-two feet, and that of the spire, one hundred and forty-nine feet. In the tower is a fine toned Troy bell of upward three thousand pounds weight, also a Howard clock. The audience room is finished to the apex of the roof, displaying the beams and rafters. The woodwork is of ash, and the pulpit and pews of black walnut. It is plainly frescoed, and is lighted by windows of stained glass.

It seats comfortably more than seven hundred people. A large and powerful organ costing upwards of five thousand dollars is placed in the rear of the pulpit. A. P. Cutting, of Worcester, Mass., was the architect, and Shadrach Seavey, Mark R. Holt and Samuel S. Kimball were the building committee. The carpets, pew-cushions and other furnishings to the value of seventeen hundred dollars were presented by the ladies of the society.

The total cost was $50,883.86. When finished, the house was paid for, and on the first day of March, 1876, it was consecrated, given to Jehovah as a freewill offering of the people, "for His worship and the honor of His name."

The order of exercises at the dedication was as follows: Invocation, Rev. C. L. Field; reading of the Scriptures, Rev. S. L. Blake; historical address, Rev. Nathaniel Bouton, D. D.; prayer, Rev. W. V. Garner; statement of the building committee, Shadrach Seavey; sermon, Rev. F. D. Ayer, D. D.; dedication service, by Pastor and People; dedicatory prayer, Rev. J. G. Davis, D. D. A large congregation was present.

(Christmas, 1902.)

At the annual meeting of the society on April 10, 1883, the pastor presented an offer from William Abbott, to give upon certain conditions, the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars towards the erection of a new chapel. The offer was accepted at a meeting held April 26; a committee was chosen to obtain additional subscriptions and to proceed with the work of building. Plans had already been prepared for a chapel connecting with the church edifice and of corresponding style and finish. A beautiful and commodious chapel was constructed and completely furnished, audience room, parlor, dining-room, kitchen, and ante-rooms, at a cost of $7,500. The chapel was opened with appropriate services by the pastor, January 10, 1884. This chapel was enlarged and remodeled in 1902, at an expense of $4,200, which sum was subscribed in full before the work was begun. The committee in charge of the whole matter of enlargement was V. Charles Hastings, Henry K. Morrison and Mrs. John C. Thorne.

The church auditorium was completely renovated in 1898.

Our four meeting-houses indicate very clearly the social and civil conditions of the people by whom they were erected, during a period of one hundred and seventy-seven years. They differed widely, one from another, and met satisfactorily the various requirements of their successive eras.

Immanuel Chapel on the Plains.

The Christain workers of that community, representing several religious denominations, were devotedly maintaining a Bible school in their small schoolhouse. We suggested that the churches of the city would aid them in the erection of a union chapel. After several conferences a proposition was made by the people, through a regular appointed committee, that our church assume the responsibility of the erection and control of a place of worship. We voted to accept the invitation and in a few months an attractive chapel of modern architectural design, centrally located, was erected by our people at a cost of $1,500. The furnishings were provided by the people on the Plains.

Deacon John C. Thorne, Deacon William P. Fiske and Mr. Herbert W. Denio were the building committee in full charge. The building was dedicated as "Immanuel Chapel," with appropriate services, on December 9, 1900.

Mr. Oliver W. Crowell and Mr. John C. Richards of our church have been most helpful in carrying forward the work here for a number of years, the former as superintendent of the Sabbath-school and the latter as a teacher. Mr. Walcott, Mr. and Mrs. Landis and Miss Macomber, with others, have labored with varying success. The lack of organization and responsibility among the Plains people has retarded the progress desired.

Other Churches Formed.

For nearly one hundred years this was the only church in the town. The steady growth of the population at length called for other churches, and from this four others of the Congregational order were formed.

THE WEST PARISH CHURCH.

After mature deliberation, the families resident in the west part of the town decided to organize a new society. Eighty-eight members were dismissed, by unanimous consent, from this church, and April 22, 1833, organized into the West Parish Congregational Church, and the next day Rev. Asa P. Tenney was installed its pastor.

THE SOUTH CHURCH.

Soon the interests of religion, and the increase of population in the southerly part of the town, required the establishment of a Congregational Church in that vicinity. February 1, 1837, sixty-seven members, dismissed by a unanimous vote, and sealed with prayers and friendly wishes, were organized into the South Congregational Church. May 3, Rev. Daniel J. Noyes was installed its pastor.

THE EAST PARISH CHURCH.

On March 30, 1842, a new house of worship was formally opened on the east side of the Merrimack river, and a church was formed of the forty-four resident members, who were dismissed from this church for that purpose. The first ordained pastor was Rev. Hiram Freeman, of Concord. Installed September 28, 1843.

THE PENACOOK CHURCH.

The North Congregational Society in this section was organized in March, 1849, Rev. Thomas P. Vernon, pastor. The present Congregational Church was organized November 9, 1850, by the union of the North and Boscawen Churches. The first settled minister being Rev. Albert W. Fiske, installed May 20, 1857.

Confession of Faith.

“ Build upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone.” Eph. 2:20.

You believe that there is one true God, the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit.

That the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments were given by Divine inspiration, and contain the only perfect rule of faith and practice.

That God maintains a righteous government over all his creatures.

That man has fallen from the state in which he was originally created, for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God.

That an atonement for sin has been made by the Lord Jesus Christ, so that repentance and faith are now the conditions of salvation.

You believe in the necessity of being renewed by the agency of the Holy Spirit.

In the increase of holiness, and perseverance unto salvation, of all who truly believe.

In the doctrine of a general resurrection, and a future judgment.

In the endless punishment of all the finally impenitent, and the everlasting blessedness of the righteous.

Covenant.

Acknowledging your infinite obligations to be the Lord's, you profess your desire, in sincerity of heart, and with a deep sense of your unworthiness, to lay hold on

His holy and everlasting Covenant. You give up yourself to God, the Father, as your God, your Father, and your eternal portion. You give up yourself to the blessed Jesus, the Redeemer and Head of the Church, as your Prophet, Priest and King, and rely upon Him alone for salvation. You give up yourself to the Holy Spirit, and rely upon Him for sanctification, guidance and comfort.

Depending on Divine Grace for assistance, you hereby solemnly bind yourself to glorify God, by a faithful discharge of the duties of sobriety, righteousness and godliness, and by a diligent observance of all His commandments and ordinances.

You promise to be loyal to this Church, faithfully attending the public worship of God, earnestly seeking the salvation of the world, and watchfully avoiding whatever is contrary to purity, peace and love, as becomes the followers of the meek and lowly Jesus.

All this you do, relying on the blood of the everlasting Covenant for the pardon of your sins, and beseeching the glorious God to prepare and strengthen you for every good work to do His will, working in you that which is well pleasing in His sight, through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory, dominion and praise for ever and ever.

[The church rising.]

On your thus professing, we receive you as a member of this Church, and welcome you to the full enjoyment of all its privileges—promising, through Divine Grace assisting us, to aid you in the duties of the Christian life, by our prayers and fraternal watchfulness; expecting, in return, the same offices from you, that the purpose of this holy Covenant may be answered. The Lord make us faithful to himself and to each other.

“ Thy vows are upon me, O God.” Ps. 56:12.

New Hampshire Female Cent Institution, and Home Missionary Union.

1804.

This institution was organized more than one hundred years ago at the suggestion of the helpful wife of our pastor, Rev. Asa McFarland, D. D. Its beginning may best be told in the words of its historian, in 1830, Rev. Abraham Burnham, D. D., of Pembroke. "There were discouraged brethren at Rev. Dr. McFarland's in Concord that day in 1804, when they had met to consider the needs of the New Hampshire Missionary Society (organized three years previously, on September 2, 1801); and when Mrs. McFarland made her suggestion, 'that the women throughout the state might lay by for this purpose one cent a week,' the plan was hailed with delight." The idea was borrowed from the action of some ministers in Massachusetts, who were dining with her uncle one day in Boston, when she was present as a guest, "when wine was set on the table and glasses filled, Charity suggested that each should set by his glass of wine and lay down his cent for the benefit of the Massachusetts Missionary Society."

Mrs. McFarland's suggestion was followed by the drawing up of a constitution, and by the organization of three societies that year—at Concord, Hanover and Raymond. In 1805 ten more societies were formed, the method adopted being to invite "some female friend of Zion in every town to use her influence to obtain subscribers, receive the money and forward to the treasurer." This society has been unique in the fact that it had only one officer, a treasurer, appointed by the New Hampshire Home Missionary Society, who receiving the money from the collectors in the different towns passed it on to this State Society, thus acting as an auxiliary. In 1829 there were thirty-seven local branches which in 1856 had increased to eighty. In 1907 they numbered one hundred and five.

A memorial membership was inaugurated in 1864 by Mrs. Benjamin P. Stone, for many years its faithful treasurer. By the payment of ten dollars at one time a member became, as it were, a permanent contributor. At the present time there are sixteen hundred and seventy-five memorial members. In 1890 New Hampshire, following the example of thirty-six other states, adopted the name of the "Home Missionary Union," in addition to its original title. In 1892 life members were admitted on the payment of twenty-five dollars. Thus far seventy-five are recorded.

The Centennial Anniversary of the Institution was observed on Wednesday, May 18, 1904, and very appropriately at the First Congregational Church, Concord, where it had its origin. After the usual business the principal event was the admirable historical paper of Mrs. Joseph B. Walker, giving a resumé of the society during its century of existence.

The total receipts for this period were reported to be $194,388.89. Miss Annie A. McFarland has been the treasurer since 1875 and is the grand-daughter of the founder. It is a fact worthy of remark, that in all its long life there have been only four treasurers.

"During these many years this Female Cent Institution, which is the oldest woman's missionary organization in the whole country, has carried its cheer to the feeble churches among the hills and to the struggling ones in towns and cities. Its gifts have been freighted with the faith and prayers of dear ones long since gone, and the results have enriched the lives of thousands, who, in turn, will extend them on through our own land even to foreign shores and the distant islands of the sea."

Concord Female Charitable Society.

In the year of the founding of this most worthy society, that of 1812, Concord village had only about two thousand five hundred inhabitants, and it was a pleasant and comfortable home for most of its people, yet Dr. McFarland had found in his pastoral visits that poverty and sickness did exist. At this time there was not any organized form of benevolence in town, or even elsewhere, having a similar charitable object in view, but Mrs. Elizabeth Kneeland McFarland, our pastor's wife, who some eight years previously had founded the New Hampshire Female Cent Institution, proposed such an organization. To her much credit is due, not only in originating the idea of true charity that has so notably characterized this society, but in carrying it forward to a complete success. At a social gathering in the Christmas season of 1811 she presented the matter and, it meeting with instant favor, a suitable paper was drawn up for signatures. The names of twenty ladies were obtained and a preliminary organization made on the first Tuesday evening of January, 1812. On the ninth instant a constitution prepared by Mrs. McFarland was adopted and a list of officers elected, consisting of a president, secretary, treasurer and a board of directors. The work of the society grew as the population of the town increased. In 1826 was received the first legacy in the sum of fifty dollars. In 1845 a larger one followed of eight hundred and fifty dollars. In 1853 came the bequest of two thousand dollars from the Countess of Rumford, grand-daughter of Rev. Timothy Walker, our first settled minister. Other liberal gifts have succeeded at different times from lovers of this form of charity until, at this writing, the permanent funds of the society amount to twelve thousand nine hundred dollars.

A "Life and Memorial Fund" was begun in 1862 by the poetess, Mrs. Lydia H. Sigourney, of Hartford, Conn. Although in no way connected with Concord, she became so deeply interested in reading the memorial address of Dr. Bouton, delivered at the fiftieth anniversary of the society, that in sending her gift she also wrote in admiration of the work, "that your well doing expresses a suggestive benevolence springing up in advance of the times." This fund amounts, in addition to the above, to two thousand four hundred and thirty dollars. Total funds of the society, fifteen thousand three hundred and thirty dollars.

For two generations, from 1826 until 1892, annual addresses were delivered to the members and friends of the society.

For nearly one hundred years now has this noble and beneficent Concord Female Charitable Society carried on its unobtrusive work; with an open hand and a kindly sympathy it has given freely its ministrations to the needy. Of the aggregate amount of good for the century past and we may hope of the century to come, who can tell? It will only be known in full to the Recording Angel in Heaven.

New Hampshire Bible Society.*1812.

In connection with the New Hampshire Home Missionary Society from the year 1803 until 1812, a few Bibles and Testaments had been distributed in the state. In the report of that society, made in 1803, we make the following extract. "We, through the benevolence, charity and zeal of others from other nations in ages past, do enjoy that blessed work which brings life and immortality to light. But there are others, innumerable, who do not enjoy it but are perishing for lack of vision."

The first proposition to form an independent Bible society in this state came at a meeting of the General Association at Exeter, September, 1810. At the meeting of the association held in Concord, at the "Old North" Church, June 3, 1812, a constitution was reported and adopted and the New Hampshire Bible Society was organized. It received its charter from the general court in November, 1812.

His Excellency John Langdon, of Portsmouth, was elected president; Rev. Seth Payson, D. D., of Rindge, vice-president; Rev. John H. Church, D. D., of Pelham, secretary, and Deacon Jonathan Wilkins, of Concord, treasurer. Mr. Wilkins was a member of the First Church, in Concord. He received a call to settle as its minister, December 17, 1786, which he declined. He was elected to the office of deacon September 6, 1811, and deceased March 9, 1830.

We shall very soon celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of this most helpful organization and we shall note the contrast between the work of its early years and that of to-day. Then only a few copies of the Bible were either kept on hand or distributed, now thousands are in stock printed in twenty-seven different languages, and the permanent funds of the society amount to upwards of $100,000.

The Sabbath School.**1818.

In the spring of 1818 the first Sunday-schools were organized in this town and by this church. Four different schools were opened: one at the old town-house (on the site of our present county building), one in the schoolhouse (where are now located Abbot-Downing Co.'s carriage shops), one at the West parish, and one on the East side.

Although Sunday-schools were founded in England, by Robert Raikes, in 1780, yet their need was not apparent in this country, for says Dr. Bouton, "Instruction in spiritual truths was regularly inculcated in families and common schools by the first settlers of this town, and we have evidence that for at least eighty years after the settlement of the first minister in 1730, the Assembly's Shorter Catechism was recited in the schools on Saturday forenoons, and in most of the families of the place, taught by the parents on the Sabbath after meeting." Thus we see that our worthy forefathers, with the Puritan principles which characterized them, combined with common school education a religious training.

In 1815 a "Catechetical Society" was formed, the members of which were to meet stately "for mental improvement in moral and religious knowledge, and daily to read with reverence and attention some portion of the lively Oracles of God." This society was formed into classes; one of these met in the town-house on a week day and recited Scripture lessons from "Wilbur's Biblical *See "History of Our Sunday-School," by John C. Thorne, in pamphlet of 150th Anniversary Exercises.

Catechism" to Dr. McFarland. This society, with its organization and work, was a ready introduction to Sunday-schools.

At the settlement of Dr. Bouton, in 1825, the school was held in the town-house, assembling at the ringing of the first bell at 9 o'clock on Sabbath morning and after the exercises the scholars, attended by their teachers, walked in the order of their classes to the church at the opening of the morning service.

In 1826 there were twelve schools in the different districts, with seventy teachers and four hundred and eighty scholars who recited during the term from May to October one hundred and sixty-one thousand four hundred and forty-six verses of scripture—five times the number in the whole Bible. In 1832 there were sixteen schools conducted by members of the society and the whole number connected with them was nine hundred and twenty-five, the highest point reached by the schools of this church. As most of those in the schools were not more than fifteen years of age, Dr. Bouton, soon after his settlement, organized five Bible classes in different parts of the town, "composed of young and adult people who were not in the Sabbath-school except as teachers." These Bible classes resulted in great good, eighty-one of the members joining the church during the six years of their existence. In 1831-2, the time of the great revival, these classes were added to the school, increasing greatly its numbers and strength.

Our library was established in 1826 and proved to be of great benefit in increasing the attendance and interest of the school. As the three Congregational churches of our city went out from us, one third of the books was presented to each of them in turn for their use.

The plan of merely reciting verses was changed in 1827 by introducing "Select Scripture Lessons," which were first recited by the scholars and then remarks to impress or enforce the truth were added by the teacher. Five years later (1832) was commenced the preparation of lessons by the pastor, with approval of the teachers, which were continued for more than thirty years, including in their range the teachings of the whole Bible (most of these lessons, printed on slips for each term, we have on file with the school records). In 1857 a question book was used by some of the classes, called "Curious and Useful Questions on the Holy Bible"; this was continued for a few years in connection with the regularly prepared lessons. In 1865 the "Union Question Book" series was adopted by the adult classes and retained in the school for several years as a guide for Bible study. In 1872 the "International Sunday-school Lessons" were adopted. This plan of study being accepted in nearly all of the nations of the earth. The Sabbath sun, as it encircles the globe, is continually shining upon a people employed upon the same topic that is engaging the rest of the Christian world, thus binding together in thought and service many races in a common brotherhood.

In 1827-8 schools were held only in the summer season, from May to October, but at this date they were continued for the entire year at the meeting-house. In 1829 the school at the town-house was united with it during the winter term and met immediately after the morning service. The schools in the different districts met at five o'clock in the afternoon, except the one at the town-house which was in the morning at nine o'clock. Any one looking out on Main street at the time of the opening of the morning service, would have beheld the beautiful sight of the scholars walking in the order of their classes, accompanied by their teacher, from the town-house where they had assembled for the Sunday-school at the ringing of the first bell at nine o'clock, to attend worship at half past ten at the "Old North Church." In 1840-1 the primary department retired from the church at noon to the "old brick" schoolhouse located where Ex-Governor Rollins' residence now is (corner of State and Church streets), where their exercises were conducted. In 1842, the year of our removal from the "Old North" and the same year the East Concord Church was formed, the different schools remaining under the supervision of the First Church, were consolidated and met the entire year at noon in the church, which arrangement has been continued until the present time.

About four years after leaving the "Old North" the work, as has heretofore been given, was continued. But now there were crystalized into a new and better form the previous methods of Sunday-school organization. "On the last Sabbath of October, 1846, at a meeting of persons connected with the First Congregational Church and Society, it was voted to form a Sunday-school Association." A committee was appointed to report a constitution and nominate officers. The constitution then adopted we act under to-day. The officers were a president, superintendent, secretary, treasurer and two librarians. The school under this association was organized November 15, 1846, with Deacon Samuel Morrill, president (to which office he was annually re-elected until his death in 1858), and Deacon James Moulton, Jr., superintendent and secretary; Henry A. Newhall, treasurer; Jonathan E. Lang and George Bradley, librarians, with eighteen classes and one hundred and eighty-four scholars.*

In 1847 a "mutual" class, so called, was formed of men in which the different members alternated as teacher; this continued in existence for more than fifty years.

During Dr. Bouton's and Dr. Ayer's pastorates, anniversary exercises were held at the close of the school year. These services were held in the afternoon, the school being assembled in the body of the church in the order of classes;

*We have on file with the Sunday-school papers a complete list of all the teachers and scholars at this time.

the pastor or some one invited by him preached a sermon adapted to the occasion. The first discourse of this kind was delivered by Dr. Bouton, October 22, 1825, and the occasion was regularly observed for nearly half a century, until the destruction of our third church edifice in 1873. Quite often the superintendent's report was read as a part of the afternoon's proceedings and a collection taken for the benefit of the library.

A Sunday-school Monthly Concert of Prayer was held for the first time November 19, 1854. The first "Union" Sunday-school concert in Concord was held with the First Church on Sabbath eve, April 8, 1860. This was a union meeting of nine of the schools of different denominations in town, some eight hundred being present. The exercises were of great interest. Our first school in our present church building was held March 12, 1876, and the fifty-eighth anniversary exercises were held in the afternoon with a fine program.

The historian of the school prepared, in 1890, a table of statistics of the previous decade; from it we note that eighty-five of the members joined the church during that period, and the school collections amounted to $2,674.13. In the last few years our school has borne the name "The Bible School," and it ranks as the third largest in the whole state.

In 1891 the school paid to the treasurer of the Margaret Pillsbury Hospital the sum of one hundred and fifty-seven dollars and twenty-five cents, one hundred dollars of this as a permanent fund to maintain, and the balance to furnish, a room in the hospital to be known as the Mary E. Ayer room, in memory of the wife of Dr. Ayer.

Deacon Benjamin Farnum, who deceased January 13, 1892, at the age of eighty-seven years and seven months, was the last member of the first Sunday-school established in Concord in 1818.

The First Congregational Society.
1824.

For nearly all of its first century of existence, the ministers of this church and town were supported by a tax on all the ratable property and on its inhabitants. By an act of the legislature of July 1, 1819, "any sect or denomination of Christians in this state may associate and form societies."

This society was formed and its constitution and by-laws adopted July 29, 1824, under the title of "The First Congregational Society in Concord, in the County of Merrimack." It was organized with two hundred and twenty-three taxable members, this tax was levied yearly upon all according to the list of the town assessors.*

By the act of the Legislature of December 23, 1842, "all funds for the support of public worship were to be raised by voluntary subscription."

The society, during all its earlier and later changes, has always been a great aid and support to the church. Besides its valuable church and chapel property, it owns a pleasant parsonage on Franklin street, bought by funds from the sale of the "Old North" Church lot (where the Walker schoolhouse now stands) in 1868.

There never has been any jealousy or disagreement between church and society, many members of one have been also members of the other and all have cheerfully counseled, heartily planned and given liberally together. Like the church, the society has been remarkably fortunate in the many strong men who have been identified with it.

The Concord Congregational Church Union.*1842.

As the congregation was about to leave the "Old North" as a house of worship, it was voted to invite all the churches formed from this to unite in a special religious service in that house. Says the record: "Religious services were attended at the Old North Church, on Thursday and Friday, October 27 and 28, 1842. On Friday the pastor delivered a discourse on the history of this church, and in the afternoon about five hundred and fifty communicants of the four sister churches sat down at the table of our Lord. It was a season of tender and affectionate interest. Many wept at the thought of separation from the place where they and their fathers had worshipped." So happy was the effect of this meeting, that the next year one of like character was held in the New North Church, but on November 18, in commemoration of the organization of this church. Since that time, an annual union meeting of the Congregational churches in Concord, including that in Penacook, has been held with the several churches in succession. Usually an address is given in the morning, and a sermon followed by the Communion in the afternoon. The meetings have always been precious seasons of Christian union and fellowship. At the twenty-fifth annual meeting, held with the First Church in 1867, it was voted that the union bear as its name, "The Concord Congregational Church Union."

The Ladies' Social Circle.*1850.

This organization was originally known as the "North Sewing Circle," composed of ladies of the parish, and came into existence sometime previous to 1850. Early in its career it was largely devoted to sewing and knitting and the articles made were sold. The first list of officers on record, chosen in December, 1860, consisted of Mrs. Joseph B. Walker, president; Miss Mary Ann Allison, vice-president; Mrs. Moses H. Bradley, secretary; Mrs. Sarah E. Foster, treasurer, with a board of nine directresses.

The society has been and continues to be a great and constant help in the social life of the church, also in its material welfare. Its object, as stated in its revised constitution of 1896, "shall be the promotion of acquaintance and sociability among its members and the raising of funds." Its officers are aided by various and efficient committees. The society has often raised liberal sums of money, by taxes, by entertainments of different kinds, by lectures, concerts and suppers, to assist in some new construction or improvement in church or chapel. On special occasions it has provided and entertained at meetings, receptions, and similar functions; it has also often forwarded valuable boxes of household supplies to home missionaries, freedmen and others. It has planned and carried through successfully whatever it has undertaken. To the many good women of the parish much praise and gratitude is due for the strong and willing support they have given the church and society these many years.

Auxiliary to the Woman's Board of Missions.

On February 9, 1875, the ladies of the North and South Congregational Churches met by appointment at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, to consider the question of forming a Woman's Missionary Society, auxiliary to the New Hampshire Branch of the Woman's Board.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Franklin D. Ayer, and it was voted to form a society in accordance with the constitution of the board then adopted.

“ARTICLE 1. This society shall be called ‘The Concord Woman's Missionary Society,’ auxiliary to the New Hampshire Branch of the Woman's Board.

“ART. 2. The object of this society shall be the cultivation of a missionary spirit and the collection of money for missionary purposes.

“ART. 3. All money raised by the society shall be sent to the treasurer of the New Hampshire Branch of the Woman's Board.”

The society organized with the choice of Mrs. Franklin D. Ayer as president; Mrs. Silas L. Blake, secretary, and Mrs. E. H. Greeley, treasurer.

The meetings are held alternately in the chapels of the North and South Churches.

The many years of this organization have been characterized by a great deal of enthusiasm and activity. The records bear the names of many noble Christian women who have given of their time, talents and means, thus helping to keep alive the missionary spirit in our midst.

The Wheeler Mission Circle.

On Saturday, September 25, 1875, at the invitation of Mrs. Franklin D. Ayer, a company of girls met at the chapel and organized the Jacob's Well Auxiliary to the Woman's Board of Missions. The object of the society was the cultivation of a missionary spirit and the collection of money for the support of a native Bible reader in Harpoot, Eastern Turkey. Two months later the name was changed to The Wheeler Mission Circle, in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Wheeler, missionaries at Harpoot.

The first officers were Miss Dora Merrill, president; J. Elizabeth Hoit, vice-president; Lizzie M. Gerrish, secretary; Ida F. Bunker, treasurer. In six years the circle had raised four hundred and eighty-five dollars. It supported one native reader in Turkey and another in Ceylon; it provided a scholarship for a night school in Constantinople and for the Gulick School in San Sebastian, Spain, and also for Howard University, Washington, D. C.; it gave a communion service to a church in South Dakota, sent relief to sufferers from famine in Turkey, and continued in this good work for seventeen years, when it disbanded in November, 1892.

Grand-daughter of Rev. Timothy Walker.

The Rolfe and Rumford Asylum. 1881.

The Rolfe and Rumford Asylum has had a quasi connection with this church ever since its establishment by the Countess of Rumford, more than fifty years ago. She was a daughter of Count Rumford and a grand-daughter of Rev. Timothy Walker, its first pastor. Upon its religious services she had been an attendant during the early and last portions of her life while residing in this country and was accustomed to speak of it as "Grandpapa Walker's Church." It was natural, therefore, and fit that it should be selected by its trustees as the religious home of the occupants of the institution which she had founded.

The Countess had long cherished a purpose to do something for needy children who, like herself, were natives of Concord. This purpose was realized in 1852, when she died, through a legacy of her last will and testament for the establishment and endowment of an institution for the support of such beneficiaries, on her estate at the junction of Hall and Water streets, where she had been born on the eighteenth day of October, 1774. To it she gave the name of "The Rolfe and Rumford Asylum," thereby perpetually associating the surnames of her half-brother's father, Col. Benjamin Rolfe, and of her own father, Count Rumford.

Its original endowment, being insufficient for its support, was allowed to accumulate until 1881, when it was opened for the reception of beneficiaries. While inmates of the asylum, they are regular attendants upon the services of this church, members of its Sunday-school and of its other associations.

Since its establishment the original fund of the asylum has been increased by two additional bequests—the largest by Mrs. Abigail B. Walker, for fifty-four years a worthy member of this church.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor.*Its Motto: "For Christ and the Church."*1887.

This society, "formed to promote an earnest Christian life among its members, to increase their mutual acquaintance, and to make them more useful in the service of God," was organized January 30, 1887, with twenty-three active members and one associate. The officers elected were: President, Oliver W. Crowell; vice-president, Miss Gertrude Ayer; secretary, Miss Elizabeth A. Brickett; treasurer, Milton H. Ballard. Lookout, prayer-meeting and social committees, also Sunday-school, missionary, flower, music and calling committees were chosen to care for the different branches of the work. The constitution adopted was the one recommended by Rev. F. E. Clark, the founder of the Christian Endeavor movement. The by-laws of thirteen articles were prepared by a committee of three, reported and adopted. The organization has recently been called "The Franklin D. Ayer Society of Christian Endeavor." During the twenty years past, upwards of three hundred persons have been members of the society, who have been made stronger, morally and spiritually, by their connection with it. By its generous contributions it has aided many a worthy object both within and without our borders. The society still continues its inspiring work among our young people.*

The King's Daughters Circle.

The Good Neighbors.
The Burden Bearers.

1888.

In October, 1888, two Circles of The King's Daughters were formed in this church. One is called The Good Neighbors, with the motto, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," and the other The Burden Bearers, with the motto, "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfil the law of Christ."

The Good Neighbors hold monthly meetings during ten months of the year and The Burden Bearers meet once in two weeks during the same period and have acted under the direction of the same leader from the first.

The two circles now number, respectively, forty-eight and thirty members. Their aims and work are of a kindred nature. They are in cordial sympathy, from time to time assisting each other in special undertakings.

To promote the joy and assuage the woe of those with whom they come in contact, especially to reach out a helping hand to those under the stress of misfortune, to minister to the sick, to provide for the needs of children, to comfort the lonely, to be mindful of the stranger, to be loyal to the church in all its interests,—such in brief are the friendly offices sustained by these women. And this they do in humble imitation of Him, who above all others is a friend, who when on earth, went about doing good and gave His life for all mankind.

Young Woman's Missionary Society.*1896.

Being fortunate in having a large number of capable young women in this society, it seemed wise to direct their thought and action along some definite line of work. With this idea in mind, on January 17, 1896, a "Young Woman's Missionary Society" was organized for home and foreign missions, under the leadership of Mrs. John C. Thorne and Miss Ida F. Bunker, with Miss Elsie Fuller, president; Miss Isabelle Dana, vice-president; Miss Louise Ordway, secretary; Miss Mabel Hastings, treasurer; Mrs. John C. Thorne and Miss Ida F. Bunker, directors. There were forty charter members.

Section 2 of the constitution says, "The object of this society shall be to send the gospel to 'all nations' and to give time, money, effort and prayer to help fulfil this great purpose." This organization is auxiliary to both the Home and Foreign Missionary Societies. The meetings are held every month during the year except in July and August. The membership at the present time is fifty, and the work continues with increasing interest and profit.

The Cheerful Workers.*1898.

This is the name of a children's mission band organized by Mrs. George H. Reed, in October, 1898. The Cheerful Workers meet on the second Sunday of the month to study child life in mission fields. They also meet on other afternoons to make scrap-books and comfort-bags and to dress dolls for a sale. They contribute to the Hospital and the District Nursing Association in our own city, also to the cause of home missions. Their offerings also find their way to Alaska and India, to China and Africa.

MONUMENT ON SUGAR BALL BLUFF.

Erected by the Concord Congregational Church Union, 1899.

In memory of the first religious service held in central New Hampshire.

Rev. Enoch Coffin, Preacher.

Sugar Ball Monument.*1899.

Upon a motion of Hon. Joseph B. Walker, made in 1898, the Concord Congregational Church Union, through its committee, erected in 1899 on Sugar Ball Bluff, opposite the city on the east bank of the river, a fine granite monument bearing this inscription: "On the interval below this spot a committee of the General Court of Massachusetts Bay, their surveyors and attendants there present to locate and survey the Plantation of Penny Cook, conducted the first religious service ever held in the central part of New Hampshire, on Sunday, May 15, 1726, Rev. Enoch Coffin, Preacher." On the obverse, "Erected by the Concord Congregational Church Union, 1899." Deacon John C. Thorne of the First Church was chairman of the committee of the union in full charge of the location and plans of the memorial. It stands on land given for the purpose by Dr. Alfred E. Emery, of Penacook, comprising about one acre, and is known as Memorial Park. The dedicatory services were held October 26, 1899, the fifty-seventh annual meeting of the Union.

This first service, thus commemorated, was conducted by Rev. Enoch Coffin, of Newbury, Mass., the chaplain of the party and afterwards Concord's first preacher to the early settlers.

The Woman's Friendly Club.
1906.

The Woman's Friendly Club was organized through the efforts of Mrs. George H. Reed and Miss Abba G. Fiske, on the twenty-fifth of January, 1906. The object of the club is to promote the mutual acquaintance and co-operation of the mothers and the teachers of the children in the Primary and Junior Departments of the Bible School. Once a month, from November to May, a social gathering is held in the afternoon at the chapel, several members of the club acting as hostesses. On one afternoon there is a Musicaire or a "Hospital Sewing Bee." At another time there is a practical talk on "Nursing" or "Some Aspects of House-keeping," an illustration of the methods of the Kindergarten or a Cradle Roll gathering. Again the subject is "Here and There with the Birds," "Easter Customs and Legends," "The Home and the Bible School," or "Echoes of Childhood Days."

There is nothing conventional or formal about the meetings. Light refreshments are served. A spirit of genuine friendliness makes this one of the popular and valuable organizations of the church.

Our Church Music.

We must not omit a brief account of music, both vocal and instrumental, in connection with our worship. Since the days of David, "the sweet singer of Israel," music has been, more or less, an important part of the service rendered unto the Most High. In the early days it was generally thought to be a popish observance, and both in the church and home it was decidedly forbidden. The Psalter was used by our Pilgrim Fathers and a few of the psalms were sung by the congregation in regular rotation. "The Psalms of David, Imitated in the Language of the New Testament and applied to the Christian State and Worship, by Isaac Watts, D. D.," and also by the same author, "Hymns and Spiritual Songs in Three Books," were largely employed in giving thanks and singing His praise. It has been said that "Hymn 103, Common Metre, in Book I, Collected from the Scriptures, 'I'm not ashamed to own my Lord,'" (II Tim. 1:12), was the first ever sung in Concord. In those times the method was, first, "the lining of the hymns," by the precentor, or leader, who read two lines which were then sung by the congregation, and so on alternating throughout the piece.

Various collections of hymns and songs have been used during the years past. There have been many changes but it has been a history of progress.

Later, the "men and women singers" in the congregation were brought together, forming the choir, and located in the gallery opposite the pulpit. The chorister, or choir leader, was the only one who received any compensation for services rendered. The chorus and volunteer choir, however, gradually gave way to the paid quartet. This became necessary in order to select and secure responsible singers. The "pitch-pipe," an instrument to give the correct key, was used for quite a period; then wind and string instruments were by degrees introduced, the violin, flute, clarinet, bass and double bass viol. These met with great opposition, and during the ministry of Mr. Evans, who was a lover of music, some persons left the church "rather than hear the profane sound of the fiddle and flute."

Some three years after leaving the "Old North," in 1845, a small pipe organ was contracted for, to be placed in our third house of worship. This was located in the gallery and cost about $1,100. It was an excellent instrument of thirteen pipes and did good service for a quarter of a century. The music from the organ was displeasing to a few, but ere long they became reconciled to the innovation. In 1870, a much larger instrument of greater power, with a total of 1,230 pipes, constructed at an expense of some $3,550, was installed in an enlarged choir loft. On June 29, 1873, it was wholly destroyed by fire together with the house of God.

In our present church home, completed in 1876, a much larger, more brilliant and more perfectly constructed organ was placed in the rear of the pulpit, by Hutchings, Plaisted & Co. (builders of the celebrated Old South Church organ, Boston), at a cost of $5,000. It is so constructed as to provide for future enlargement; at present it contains 33 registers, 4 combination pedals and 1,740 pipes.*

Dr. William G. Carter, our beloved organist for thirty-five years, superintended largely the construction of the present organ and built into it much of his musical experience. His love for good music and his sympathetic playing were a source of great satisfaction and pleasure to our people.
